Catholic Communication Campaign

Today's second collection supports Catholic Communication Campaign and Catholic University of America. The Communication Campaign connects people with the Good News of Christ, here and around the world. The Catholic University of America was established in 1887 as the national university of the Catholic Church in the United States. One-third of the collection remains in our diocese for local communication efforts, one-third assists the communication work across the United States and the final third supports the Catholic University of America in Washington D.C. Thank you for your support!

Traditional Marriage Public Square Rosary Crusade Holy Rosary at St. Ann's Church, St. Regis Falls, NY June 23rd at Noon

God's marriage and the traditional family need our prayers. That is why you are invited to join our 2018 Rosary Rally for Traditional Marriage. For more information, contact Elaine McGivney at 518-529-6133.

In The Secret of the Rosary, St. Louis de Montfort said: "Public prayer is far more powerful than private prayer to appease the anger of God and call down His mercy, and Holy Mother Church, guided by the Holy Ghost, has always advocated public prayer in times of public tragedy and suffering."

Environmental Stewardship

"The pace of consumption, waste and environmental change has so stretched the planet's capacity...the effects of the present imbalance can only be reduced by your decisive actions, here and now." "Laudato Si" (#161), Blessed are the the Consumers, for they have a choice. One step to end Plastic Pollution: take a little extra time when shopping, select products without individual plastic packaging, and avoid products that are excessively wrapped in plastic.

Entrance Antiphon

"The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? The Lord is the stronghold of my life; whom should I dread? When those who do evil draw near, they stumble and fall." (Psalm 27: 1-2)

CEMETERY REGULATIONS

(St. Mary's, St. Joseph's, St. Patrick's)

We want to remind everyone of the importance of following the rules and regulations at our cemeteries: FENCES, LAWN BORDERS, ORNAMENTS, STATUES, GLASS ARTICLES, SHRUBS, OR BUSHES ARE NOT ALLOWED. Annual flowers are allowed to be placed adjacent to the stone. Artificial flowers are only allowed for two weeks prior and for two weeks after Memorial Day. They will be removed after that time. If you have any questions, please contact the office at 518-358-2500 during the hours of 8am to 3pm. The cemetery organization is not responsible for any lost or stolen items. Families of grave owners should be considerate of others. We ask that you not drive on the lawns. With the cooperation of all, each cemetery will continue to be a beautiful memorial to our deceased loved ones. Thank you for your cooperation!

St. John of the Cross' Advice on Conquering Self-Love

Pope Francis has cautioned that the biggest enemy of mercy is "self-love." St. John of the Cross agrees, and teaches that the greatest work of Divine mercy in us is God's work of overcoming our distorted "self-love" so that we might become capable of the selfless love that is the origin of mercy. Mercy, remember, is loving and seeking the well-being of difficult, needy, irritating, unattractive, unpleasant, smelly, nasty, unworthy others unto discomfort and self-renunciation.

By self-love, neither John nor Pope Francis mean to disparage that healthy love for self that reverences all that is good in us and appropriately cares for our genuine well-being (c.f. Ephesians 5:29). Rather, both are disparaging that self-absorbed inward turning that thwarts the authentic good found in hard virtues, resists God's holy will, and prevents us from loving with the love of Jesus Crucified...

Here's a section where St. John of the Cross describes the inner dynamics of Sloth in the spiritual beginner, and then refers to the "dark night" that God eventually leads them into in order to dismantle the machinery of self-absorption. These dark nights include both interior trials and exterior trials that strip away the "props" that previously supported the soul's narcissism. Note the "self love" that still drives the slothful's spiritual life:

"Many of these beginners want God to desire what they want, and they become sad if they have to desire God's will. They feel an aversion toward adapting their will to God's. Hence they frequently believe that what is not their will, or brings them no satisfaction, is not God's will, and, on the other hand, that if they are satisfied, God is too. They measure God by themselves and not themselves by God, which is in opposition to his teaching in the Gospel that those who lose their life for his sake will gain it and those who desire to gain it will lose it.

Beginners also become bored when told to do something unpleasant. Because they look for spiritual gratifications and delights, they are extremely lax in the fortitude and labor perfection demands. Like those who are reared in luxury, they run sadly from everything rough, and they are scandalized by the cross, in which spiritual delights are found. And in the more spiritual exercises their boredom is greater. Since they expect to go about in spiritual matters according to the whims and satisfactions of their own will, entering by the narrow way of life, about which Christ speaks, is saddening and repugnant to them.

It is enough to have referred to the many imperfections of those who live in this beginner's state to see their need for God to put them into the state of proficient. He does this by introducing them into the dark night, of which we will now speak. There, through pure dryness and interior darkness, he weans them from the breasts of these gratifications and delights, takes away all these trivialities and childish ways, and makes them acquire the virtues by very different means. No matter how earnestly beginners in all their actions and passions practice the mortification of self, they will never be able to do so entirely—far from it—until God accomplishes it in them passively by means of the purgation of this night."
